Whispers from The Brighter World

Wednesday, December 21, 2016 – 10:00 a.m.

Let yourself be carried away by this flow of love that so delights your heart – a heart that is receptive to all our attentions; these thousands of messages have created such a bond between us. Here it is easy for my heart to express what is needed each day. Time goes by, the same words come back; how to do otherwise? This is the case for all writings that renew themselves over time. The transmission they generate matters more than anything, even if it is necessary to adhere to a form, the simplest there is, to carry it in the best possible way.

So much love is distilled within our hearts. The united Masters are watching over this Mission as they would the most precious possession in the world. Its Master is followed, heard and understood, as appropriate, in his creativity. This creativity is necessary in these current and difficult times; this is to be emphasised. It is no simple matter to manage an 'enterprise' of this kind, in which so many aspects are to be considered.

Sahaj Marg continues on its way, as never before. It is, one might say, at a turning point in its history; its continuation will be very beautiful and very active in the world, for the good of beings who will follow it.

May all be fortified and blessed.
