Whispers from The Brighter World

The happiness this message brings is mutual; It does not give rise to weariness on our part, and for you it does not seem so either. These thousands of written pages constitute a real asset, as we have said often enough. What is done out of love is and will remain very special, as the future will show. This refuge is uncommon, it is a precious asset. So much prevailing negativity of which humans have no idea, such violence, and harshness, are the characteristics of current times. Pollution in all its aspects is harmful in more ways than one; it is not our habit to allude to it, but when it disturbs human beings to such an extent, it becomes necessary. Our action in this domain is not obvious; everything would have to be reconsidered on Earth, but the time has not come for this to happen.

Everything in its time, as it is said. Humanity must go through different stages so that everything becomes clear as planned. We are working in our own manner, with our own means. The spiritual is much more important than humans consider it to be; for its part, Sahaj Marg is increasingly active, and it is good to see this. The awakening of consciousness, the call of the heart towards this 'sure thing' of such a spiritual process, is and will remain a true good for humanity. Special blessings to all.
