Whispers from The Brighter World

Monday, January 2, 2017 – 10:00 a.m.

Let us continue on this extraordinary journey of messages; they bring, and will leave over time, a very special image to this way of the heart. Day by day, this path nourishes people's hearts and moreover succeeds in leading them imperceptibly to a satisfactory level. Repetition is necessary here below; isn't everything built in this spirit? Every day the same gestures are made and the same words repeated, tirelessly. It cannot be otherwise.

What matters is that which emerges from this process. Everything is being put in place, imperceptibly preparing the era of the future. It will be different in many respects; very slowly, it is becoming clearer in its objectives and in the good it will bring, not only to human evolution. All existing kingdoms will also have to adapt to the need for a widespread evolution.

Everything cannot continue to stagnate in this way; the higher powers act in their own manner, with discernment and efficacy. Sahaj Marg, in this future, will have a special place, and it will be more and more appreciated. Nothing in this world is done without good reason, at least concerning benefits that can foster the spiritual evolution of a current world, far away as it still is from an overall state of grace. Let's do more than just dream; even if the best is put in place, perseverance will be necessary, in more ways than one. Be that as it may, the higher will shall prevail, this is how it is.
