Whispers from The Brighter World

Thursday, March 9, 2017 – 10:00 a.m.

Be at peace, you have always done your best. The impulses of the heart are full of love here; they cannot but transmit a redeeming energy, as desired by the Hierarchy of Masters. We want the best for this very special path. Thus it has taken root and has won over many brothers and sisters, leading them to the height of their quest. Here each one is advancing in the desired direction, in order to answer the calls of a soul thirsting for the Divine. It is accepted by the alliance of the Masters, who are very attentive to the emergence of what is good and great in this saga of the heart – a saga that is unique in many ways.

May the best come about and leave in this world the mark of perfection: excellence in every respect.

So it is.
