Whispers from The Brighter World

Saturday, May 20, 2017 – 10:00 a.m.

Your heart aspires to the Divine, to this most special vibration, which transports it with happiness. The taking down of these messages does not derive from a simple contact, but from the manifestation of the Divine, in a special register where it is called for. These writings will cross the barriers of time, as did certain sacred writings, guarded and venerated for good reason. Only time can give similar instances their true worth. The Sahaj Marg Mission will leave in time an important place, which is already taking shape for the good of a large number of abhyasis.

Ashrams will become points of light and stability, in this particular aspect of life.

May all take hold more and more of this spiritual value, capable of transforming the world. We are working for the best from this perspective. So it is.
