Augerans

(Seminar with Master.

Morning, at 10:00 a.m., a message from Janaki, Master's mother, for her son.)

Ever since your birth, you were unique. My mother's heart 'knew', and for me you were the object of a special tenderness. I have always been near you. Did you know this?

We love you so much and we carry you in the heavy task you do so well. Don't worry; all is well. Legions of angels protect you.

I love you, my blessed son. I am happy to give you this message; I will come back [to you].

Janaki

(At 4 p.m., Master visits in my caravan. He offers me a red rose, a beautiful souvenir. [I gave him the] message from Babuji intended for him, and translated by Patrick.)
