Wednesday, April 30, 1997 – 10:00 a.m.

Birthday of Babuji

The Medium: Beloved Babuji, change my heart please!

he transformation of your heart hinges on your body's transformation. Endure with patience, you are working for your eternity. I follow your steps and your progress. I carry you in my heart to lighten your burden, but I cannot do the work for you. It is your life's work, your 'masterpiece'. I give you the elements and you build...

Your love touches me and inclines me towards you, towards all weaknesses. You are my blessed child, never forget it. I will never cease saying this to you. Look towards the goal; forget the brambles on which you are walking, lift your face towards the light. Advance in my love, the goal is not far away; until the end your eyes will follow me, mine will not leave you.

Be in peace and joy during this holiday, despite everything.

I do not forget my daughter Francoise. Let her not slacken; her progress is important, she has my blessing. May you all be united – do not falter, either in action or in faith. I love you, my children; thank Chantal for her dedication toward you.

Blessings!

Babuji