Thursday, May 21, 1998 – 11:45 a.m.

(In meditation. Ascension Day – Message from Janaki, Mother of the Master.)

My son, your course is flawless, you give all your best. We are happy with your success. I have been waiting a long time for the right moment to come back. I am often near you. Your discouragement sometimes pains us, but the work accomplished is colossal and you are doing the best possible. We support you in your undertakings. We all love you and bless you. One day, we'll be reunited and we will experience joys that are humanly indescribable. You are never alone, know this. I am proud of you, my son.

(Following the message, a question from me.)

The Medium: Is this really you, Janaki?

Yes, my little daughter, we are sad to see you suffering, but such is your path. Thank you for having had the idea of giving him my first message again; I am happy, through you, to deliver this second one. We inspired you for that.

Janaki