Beloved Master
Revered Babuji Maharaj

Whispers from The Brighter World

Sunday, October 25, 1998 – 10:30 a.m.

Yes, I am here, my child – relax, be surrendered. Your path is covered with thorns, but luminous. Life on Earth is a short passage, as I've already told you.

Make good use of your remaining time to reach higher planes; we are helping you in that. You have all our attention and our love. Remain in peace of heart and in harmony with your circle. Pure hearts will see who you are. You still have much to give, to illuminate the souls who gravitate around you. You are helping, even without your knowledge. There are mysteries not very perceptible to humans. What matters is to fulfill your life's path; you came for that, do your best. We try to find a way to provide help for you without that being too burdensome for you. Don't lose heart, be strong, my dear daughter!

I bless you.

Babuji