Whispers from The Brighter World

Sunday, January 3, 1999 – 12:00 p.m.

When you come to join us, you will refresh yourself in the plain truth. Do you believe that during my life, on Earth, certain messages that I received would have been well perceived? Nothing can be changed about that; you know this. Continue, don't change; you are our instrument. We appreciate you, we love you as you are, so what more do you want? Are you satisfied with this? Be assured that we understand your doubts; few humans have this 'true' capacity to communicate with us. So let it be, let the jealous, the ignorant, and people of little faith talk. We would be unable to communicate certain truths, to speak about certain facts to those we have chosen! That would be sad and distressing. Be at peace with yourself about all this. You will hear more and worse.

Content yourself with looking in our direction, as one looks up to the sky with hope.
