Whispers from The Brighter World

Friday, March 19, 1999 – 10:00 a.m.

(Master is in Augerans.)

You see, he does not forget you either. Don't be sad, nothing can prevent minds from finding each other again. Thus, without fatigue, you are benefitting from my son's visit.

Be blessed, my daughter, the call of your heart is always heard. Be careful, don't share any messages in writing any more. You will get yourself into trouble, and you don't need that. There will be leaks, inevitably; it is human. Taking notes, reflecting together on certain aspects, yes; you must leave it at that for the moment.
