Whispers from The Brighter World

Tuesday, March 21, 1999 – 9:30 a.m.

I will come more often now, so that you will be less exhausted by long messages. All that we want is your wellbeing, and to see you happy in relaying what is precious to us: a teaching that can help your brothers and sisters, even if it must remain hidden for the moment. A simple teaching in keeping with the spirit of your time, without elaborate and complicated sentences, but those that are easy to grasp. Truth is so simple. But we must adapt what we say to the state of mind of the majority.

Be at ease regarding 'the issue', but once again, be cautious. Choose carefully the recipients of what you consider your most precious treasure. You are so strong, my child, and so fragile too; do not expose yourself. For years, I also had to hide the messages I was blessed to receive. The wheel of time turns, but human beings are hardly smarter.

Make the most of these last hours; my son's work is finishing. Once more, he has done an excellent job. He makes me happy.

Be calm and relaxed. Delight in the Divine, we are helping you in that.

The Medium: Oh thank you, Babuji...

Yes, meditate my daughter, meditate... A seminar like this one is important, it cannot be measured, yet the result is there. It makes you move forward, you and so many other souls who cannot even perceive it. It is the first link in a tremendous work, which must be concluded for the centenary.

That's all.
