Whispers from The Brighter World

Saturday, April 3, 1999 – 5:00 p.m.

(Weekend seminar conducted by JB.)

This gathering is important; it infuses new blood into the ashram, it is reborn in a way. This renewal is the result of the purification work that has been carried out for some time now.

We are always attentive to what takes place there.

The ashrams are interesting points of radiance for the countries where they are located – a little like lamps to which, unfortunately, no one pays the attention that is warranted.

In our organization, everything has its own importance – even differences of opinion can lead to something good for the group.

Therefore, let all of you respect the different points of view of your brothers and sisters.

Unite on the essential; be positive and constructive.

Blessings.
