Wednesday, August 2, 2000 - 10:00 a.m.

My son cogitates; he may have to change his plans. He is tempted to come to the south of France on a brief visit; wait and see which opportunity he will have. He is affected by this situation but he cannot change anything about it; let's wait for more favourable days. You also, my daughter, be patient for all the reasons which you know. Never lose faith in us, no matter what happens. We are watching over and we let the situations be clarified. The evil must end up being cleared away to leave room for God's intentions. However long these changes may take, they must take place and reinforce what is good for His creature. Once and for all, it is necessary to go until the end so that the taboos of this influence, which has weighed on the world for centuries, are eventually released. Freedom of thinking and leading one's spiritual path as one pleases is the best thing which can happen to man. When each individual is respected for their profound aspirations, provided they don't harm their neighbour, it will be the beginning of a new era on Earth and a true blessing for humanity."

Babuji