Whispers from The Brighter World

Wednesday, April 14, 1999 – 8:00 a.m.

Redemption is not due to one man only.
It is a group of very special personalities that contribute to the cleaning of humanity.

This word, used by the Christians, is not properly defined. Christ is not the only Son of God.

All the great beings who have marked the history of the world have taken, and still take, an active part in this work. They will all participate in it, until the end of time.

When the Earth has reached its golden age, other rules will be established for it.

They will have achieved their mission as far as it is concerned.

Each religion always claimed to be the only one to hold 'The truth'.

The cause of this is human ignorance.

Some people, the most skilful, appropriate the teachings of the Masters while distorting them; others accept them in all good faith.

Redemption, to continue calling it by this name, will come about.

You, yourselves, participate in it modestly by doing your personal work.

In advancing, you pull others along; an effect of osmosis is created.

The same applies to evil, which is so widespread in this world and which produces the same effects.

There will come a moment when the scales will tip towards the right side and the process will accelerate. This is one of the laws of the universe that will manifest in due course.

We will revert to these subjects that may seem obscure to you.

Religious teachings are deeply rooted in you.

You all need time to assimilate this way of seeing.

The evolution of the Earth continues inexorably; it, too, will reach the goal.
