Whispers from The Brighter World

Tuesday, April 27, 1999 – 8:00 a.m.

The Medium: Babuji, please assure I'm not in the hospital on Friday.

ime, space, place, do not count.

Is it so important to be at home on April 30th? Is it not enough for you to be with me?

We will make sure you are not the saddest of the abhyasis.

Everything is relative, my child. Don't you believe in my omnipresence anymore?

So, what does it matter where you are going to be.

Detach yourself from all these contingencies. Only what is good for your soul matters, it is up to us to judge.

Our objective is to free you from your chains, all the rest is incidental.

We are not insensitive to what you are enduring, but determined to do our best for you.
