Whispers from The Brighter World

Saturday, May 1, 1999 – 10:00 a.m.

My child, our love story is like that of the Mission, it is growing and will never end.

The Medium: Babuji, I would like so much to please you in everything!

So, detach yourself as much as possible from events and from the material side of things.

Make a habit of taking refuge in your sadhana; in doing so, you will come close to me and regain strength.

Advance step by step; we do not expect you to move mountains, only to manage day by day.

All these small victories, put together, constitute your inheritance.

That is the only one that is valid, you know this only too well. Material goods remain on Earth, they mean nothing in the hereafter.

Continue on your way, we follow you, and everything that touches your life concerns us; what others do for you, they do for us.

This is how it is.

There are attachments that reason can't explain, but matters of the heart have this peculiarity.

Continue, all of you, in the spirit of this seminar. It proceeds with a certain intensity.

Don't waste a single crumb; they are worth their weight in gold.
