Whispers from The Brighter World

Thursday, May 13, 1999 – 8:00 a.m.

You had to learn patience in this life, it is a major quality.

See how slowly everything is done around you; observe nature, the rhythm of the seasons, the worlds that are being built and the realization of beings.

Time is the master, nothing can change its course; it will not speed up for your pleasure.

Time is, full stop.

All living kingdoms on Earth must conform to it.

Biding one's time is humanity's stumbling block.

It is necessary to wait for everything, always. Thanks to time, the world is in perpetual evolution; it is the magic wand of the Creator.

When you come to join us, you will get out of this context. Other experiences will await you; what you will have lived on Earth will be part of what you carry with you. Your preparation will be beneficial for approaching a completely different kind of experience.

Nothing is lost, everything is useful, your attainment will open doors for you.

Review your lives in detail, all of you – your logbook might be richer than you think.

The good and the bad are equally valuable. The important thing is to learn from everything.
