Whispers from The Brighter World

Saturday, May 15, 1999 – 10:00 a.m.

It is necessary to accept the good and the bad with equal gratitude.
What you consider bad is actually one of your best weapons, depending on how you manage the situation.

One needs nobility of spirit to think of trials as blessings.

With time, you will all experience a different state of mind in the face of difficulties that keep arising in the course of a life.

The Medium: Babuji, the scribe is not in good shape today, she is doing her level best but...

She is operating relatively well, we manage to convey the essential.

Even if these messages always deal with more or less the same topics, it is important to present them in this form of dialogue.

We are here, face to face, and we exchange, is this not beautiful?

We show in this way all the love we have for our aspirants. We would like to carry them, to make them advance very quickly and liberate them, but we are bound to comply with certain rules.

These messages will help.

You see that you are useful, my daughter, you who despair for not being in the action in a way that is more in line with your temperament.

All that you are doing was planned for a long time. We were waiting for the right moment, quite simply.

See how lucky you are to be able to serve us like this.

Be happy.

Babuji
