Whispers from The Brighter World

Tuesday, May 25, 1999 – 8:00 a.m.

You must lead your daily life normally. Furthermore, you must be in constant communion with us. You know it already, but you are not sufficiently conscious of it.

Realize that you are guided remotely, as you have so often requested.

Don't let yourself be unsettled by events or opinions that are not to be taken into account.

You are no longer in that niche. In all circumstances, you must have the reflex – as in our contacts – to interiorize yourself for a moment, to capture what we have to tell you.

Don't let yourself be influenced by what comes from outside. Take on as best you can the essentials for the material side of things. Detach yourself more and more from everything that doesn't concern your life with us.

What you have to live will seem to you less heavy to carry.

The Medium: Babuji, I would need a factotum on whom I could rely entirely.

For the moment, the system in place is satisfactory. When more needs to be done, we will advise.

Take the day as it comes and give thanks for being able to serve in spite of your limitations.

Don't worry about tomorrow, appreciate what you receive that is good.

You are surrounded, helped, and we love you; so what more to ask for, for the moment.

Tomorrow will be another day, may your heart be at peace.
