Whispers from The Brighter World

Friday, May 28, 1999 – 10:00 a.m.

We try to determine each aspect of your personalities in order to make you all aware of your weak points. By tracking them down you can seriously set about eliminating them.

All this personal work will help you save time and take short cuts.

You need to clear your path and see before you a beautiful, open, luminous road, on which you can embark with hearts full of joy.

Think of your brothers and sisters who advance less easily than you, because they carry a burden that holds them back.

Help them without ever moralizing. On no account is it yours to do.

Be tolerant, understanding and fraternal, as you would like others to be with you.

You are not at the end of the road and you are not safe from a misstep.

Be vigilant and strong.

Never forget that we follow you all and see your efforts.

We bless you in your undertakings.
