Beloved Master
Revered Babuji Maharaj

Whispers from The Brighter World

Tuesday, June 8, 1999 – 8:00 a.m.

You thought we would not get beyond the first notebook, that everything had been said.

Yet, we have developed a certain number of ideas in the second one.

The truth is very simple, don't any of you forget it, but it takes so many words, illustrative explanations to fire up your neurons.

Your heart needs emotions, your mind needs formulas that strike it, it is necessary to keep coming back to the same points indefinitely.

Your small group, which is nourished by these messages, is evolving quickly. Interesting signs can be observed in each one. You are assimilating all this quite finely, we are satisfied with your reactions. They show that, on fertile soil, most of the seeds sown produce a good harvest.

In a way, you're our guinea pigs, since you are the first to benefit from them.

We observe you all, and are pleased with your reactions. Each one, each of you, assimilates according to their profound nature. Seeing what you are manifesting, and the result observed in your conditions, we will continue for some time.

It will be a review, a reminder of what we consider essential for your spiritual development.

Unlike some of your brothers and sisters, you don't all have the opportunity to be with my son often. Don't think you are forgotten. I met my venerated Master only a very few times.

Distances mean nothing to us. You are all part of a large body, irrigated by the same blood; distance makes no difference.

The work is done where and when it must be done.

Never have feelings of frustration, it is negative and useless.

You all bathe in the same subtle energy, no cell of this great body is put to the side. The least of its small cells is as dear to our heart as the supposedly important organs.

You all are important. All together you are advancing under our tender gaze.

Babuji