Whispers from The Brighter World

Saturday, June 26, 1999 – 10:00 a.m.

There are, on Earth, points of light that are not visible to the 'naked eye', as you say.

They are important, they play their role and are necessary for a certain balance; even if you do not see them, they exist. These are luminous lines that mark out our path among humans.

How can we draw comparisons? On your road networks there are traffic signs, more or less luminous depending on the level of risk involved.

Without them, what chaos would be on your motorways.

This is not really related, it simply allows you all to imagine according to your own view of the spiritual world.

Don't start racking your brain again, you are too tired. Let your circle work a bit.

That's all.
