Whispers from The Brighter World

Saturday, July 17, 1999 – 10:00 a.m.

It would be distressing to think that a great number of abhyasis couldn't one day benefit from these messages. If their spiritual work does not open them to eternal truths, where are we going? This openness will happen slowly; nothing should be done hastily as far as publishing them is concerned. You will all know when it's time to do so. It is necessary to let time do its work. The same goes for all things.

Yesterday we touched on the situation of this ashram in Montpellier. It will recover gradually. We are letting certain negative aspects that are still holding it back be cleared away.

Help us by seeing it as luminous, sought-after and highly organized, like a hive.

Be productive bees and make of this place what we have been expecting of it since its inception.

Nothing should be rushed, but create initiatives that will bring it back to life.

Visualize its salutary expansion so that, by creating favourable situations, it can attract abhyasis from neighbouring regions. Some of them feel isolated and will appreciate it.

It is not Augerans, so other things must be done here, in a different way.

Discover, be inventive.

You also have at your disposal an abundance of Sahaj Marg literature that can be useful.

Meditate together; meditate a lot, particularly in these times when grave dangers can disrupt your lives.

Become beacons that illuminate the world.
