Whispers from The Brighter World
A Third Revelation

Monday, May 28, 2001 - 8:00 a.m.

Mystical experiences are not transferable to other people. One has to experience them personally, to remember them and be thankful for these remarkable graces. They do not pertain to the realm of senses – which are of no relevance; they are neither identifiable nor easy to explain humanly. These experiences are not the goal of your sadhana; they are given in specific cases and under some circumstances. Rely on your Master; he knows what he is doing. Each one of you has his own path, which has to be followed quite simply. It can hold surprises. Grace is constant; it is a great comfort for a heart that is offered and that craves for it. In many ways, it is intended for you. Be attentive to its manifestation, you are not forgotten. Each life, including its experiences, is different; it is unique since it is yours. Be capable of recognising the signs it bears and capitalize on each moment for your own fulfilment; lost occasions cannot be made up. Advance with faith in your personal fulfilment and in God who guides your steps. You have your free will, the onus is on you to do or not to do; no one can force anything on you. You are faced with your own destiny; it is up to you to take action on your good intentions. Let yourself be guided towards the ultimate goal; trust us and the best will be achieved."
