My Beloved Master
Revered Babuji Maharaj

Whispers from The Brighter World

Saturday, January 5, 2013 — 10:00 a.m.

Everything happens in due time in our Mission; our dearest and great son is inspired when necessary. As always, he is doing his best. Even if he cannot travel the world as he would like, he operates differently and his action is exemplary — it is remarkable. When the time comes, he will do what is required. Our abhyasis wish to see him; they should be more motivated in their work, and then they will be heard. This Mission is like a big family; all must try to understand one another and act at both the material and spiritual levels. A joint action is always profitable and the Master cannot but appreciate everything that is being done for the good. The development of the Mission occurs at all levels. Spirituality must be built here and there on solid foundations: ashrams and places to gather and meditate always carry, to some extent, a specific energy that is conducive to practising as proposed by us. The Master cannot be physically present everywhere, but spiritually his action keeps operating in any place where he is called and revered.

"Blessed are those who contribute to serving our beautiful way of Sahaj Marg with faith, confidence and ardour. All commitments are valued; they contribute to the good of each of our brothers and sisters. May all feel involved and inspired to act positively and constructively. Sahaj Marg is not an isolated phenomenon, but a global and decisive endeavour for the evolution of humanity. May all act as best they can and thus contribute to the great divine plan."

Babuji Maharaj