My Revered Master was happy yesterday to show himself to you in that light. It is true, we are not sad. Didn't I already tell you that 'joy attracts grace'? Do not have a gloomy faith; you must show how joyful you have been made by your choosing, from among others, a way perfectly suitable to you. Your life has a meaning, isn't it beautiful? It can be successful at the family and professional level, but you have managed to add to it its true dimension, making you all-round beings. Your stay on Earth is short; you are very lucky to have understood where your priorities lie. They constitute your wealth, we insist on this critical aspect. Therefore, be joyful in spite of everything. Keep in your heart this small flame which lights your way and, to some extent, the way of others who, less lucky than you, benefit from your privileged position. Make sure that your joy remains. It is the evidence of your commitment; do not be afraid to show it."
