Whispers from The Brighter World

Wednesday, January 20, 2016 — 10:00 a.m.

How can we resist the call of such a loving heart as yours, dear scribe! Time has not diminished this extraordinary love that binds you to our united hearts. We are all attentive to our brothers and sisters whose numbers are growing; we want to give them the best and support their advancement towards the desired goal. They have their individual expectations, but all aspire to reach the goal, the ultimate, that which elevates the soul towards bliss. They will all achieve it; perseverance is a precious tool that is indispensable to any process. We are emphasising once again how necessary interiorisation is. There lies the secret refuge where each person can develop this precious asset — namely, the divine energy in every cell, which is revealed to dedicated and fervent seekers. Science does not currently understand this very special richness. Although it is very advanced, it does not specifically explore this realm which remains secret and so very important for the elevation of the soul.

"A time will come when all these subtleties will be recognised and highlighted in order to support a collective advancement, so very beneficial for humanity. Human beings have been greatly caught and overwhelmed by the incessant, deadly hatreds that persist here below, despite the work that is being done for the good of all brothers and sisters. May each of them cultivate within themselves a feeling of peace and general harmony, so as to establish here below a world that is fully expanding towards the good. Such are our most ardent wishes, supported by an important work.

"This is how it is!"
