When will you stop being trapped by subjective impressions—as you are doing now? You should not get involved in this kind of thing. Note down, do what we expect of you and don't be in that system of mental cogitation which is a hindrance to the role we would like to see you playing. My son's entourage does not matter in this matter. He has his own little ways with people faithful to him for years. He is pleased to always be surrounded by the same acquaintances. That makes his trips easier. His trips are many and tiring; feeling at ease with his faithful followers is resting for him. You would react exactly in the same way and we do not see how that can bother you. It is service that counts, and you know it. Therefore, try to be reasonable and divest yourself of useless reactions, which do not serve our cause. That is our request to you."
