Whispers from The Brighter World

Tuesday, June 26, 2001 – 8:00 a.m.

Don't worry; you are doing what you came for. It is true that the spiritual nature of a being is different from its physical nature; these two lead separate lives, let us say, even if they sometimes interfere with each other. The spiritual bodies of each of you are immersed in another type of energy, another light, which your senses cannot perceive, limited as they are by the heaviness of the Earthly vibrations. These limitations are intended and necessary for your work here below. The spiritual work refines you all; it is like a lamp that lights your way and alleviates your burden.

The teaching you all choose to accompany this work is decisive; it corresponds to your evolution. If your choice is right, it saves you invaluable time.

Your stay on Earth can be compared to a pilgrimage where the path you each take is of the highest importance, given its length and the many pitfalls that punctuate it.

Your spiritual nature urges you all, as far as it can, to take the right direction, but human beings often remain deaf to its injunctions, thus missing the essential.

May you all waste no more time and open your eyes to the reality of your lives.
