Don't you realize that with each one of your reactions of doubt, you introduce a negative element into the process of communication, a little like weeds in a garden that spoil the harmony of the place? When will you stop reacting like that? You thus block the transmission. That's lack of self-confidence, and what's more serious is that by so doing, you do doubt us. We are dismayed by this situation, which must absolutely stop. You will do us the greatest favour by remedying the situation definitively; otherwise you run the risk of jeopardizing this relationship between us, and more so with my son, which would be annoying. When you communicate with the divine being of your Master, you must take very seriously what you perceive, as is the case with us. You can also do it consciously by telepathy; that should help you. It is an additional step to be cleared. Whether you really want to do it and apply yourselves to it is another matter. Knowledge of the English language is irrelevant in this process. You can receive him perfectly. You must make progress in this direction, as you fail to speak the same language. Use your gifts, think of it. It is very important."
