Thursday, September 28, 2000 - 10:00 a.m.

The Medium: "Babuji, yesterday you have alluded to the work that falls to you in your world."

Why do you want me to address this topic? There are not many details to give. We distribute the tasks among ourselves, and work is endless, which is not likely to reassure your fellow men. Our action is geared towards mankind and other worlds beyond your comprehension. You can only pray to accompany us in our action; that's all to be said on the issue. You have enough to do on this Earth for yourself and for the others; therefore you should remain well focused on your own action and all that you can possibly do around you."

The Medium: "Forgive me for this Babuji question."

"We know that it is not out of curiosity on your part, but a token of your interest in our life where we are. There is a time for everything; when you have left this Earth, you will have to follow another path that will lead you to your true destination. You will then be able to measure the extent of the capabilities with regard to service and you will be guided according to your aptitudes to use them as well as possible. This will not happen tomorrow. Keep well your foothold in the world where you are; you have not finished your work. Are you satisfied?"

Babuji