Love is a vibration both subtle and powerful; it is capable of thwarting the unhealthiest plans. This force is often present in your life, more than you can imagine. Make sure that it develops in you and becomes in you a natural means of expression.

"This form of love can soften the most impenetrable hearts. Divine love manifests itself across the entire creation. It is like beneficial dew, which heals the wounds of mankind. It is a grace bestowed on men of goodwill who advance on a sinuous road, having agreed to fulfil a contract sometimes beyond them. Some choices are not easy to assume and prove to be beyond human capabilities. All is counted in this world; the efforts of each one are taken into account. One should never despair of men. All, conscious or not, have the same aspiration: to rise above mud and be united with the Creator."
