Tuesday, October 24, 2000 - 8:00 AM

In the future, a big country will open up to Sahaj Marg. That will be of real benefit to it. A lot of souls are ready. Its inhabitants have been suffering since many generations, and their longing for spirituality is great. Pioneers will be noble hearts, happy not to be under the yoke of neither a party nor a religious group. We will talk about it again later; it is up to you to use your shrewdness.

"My son would like to have a successor and retire to his tent, as you say, but time has not yet come for him. He has the required stature and experience to implement what must be prepared for posterity. He will remain as one of the great forerunners of the system, a high calibre Master and good-sensed man, an architect having erected a strong spiritual structure in the world. His vision of things is correct. He will have put in place base elements for strong foundations.

"We can only commend ourselves for having chosen him for this big project. His action is not completed; he is inspired to go far beyond the current situation. May the love of our aspirants, as well as the power of our love carry him to the pinnacle of this beautiful achievement!

"You may forward this message to him; he must get ready for this imposing vision of the future, which he senses already."

Babuji