Beloved Master
Revered Babuji Maharaj

Whispers from The Brighter World
A Fourth Revelation

Monday, October 30, 2000 - 8:00 a.m.

Make your own sky colourful, let your reflections embellish it and your words remain like light clouds that move through without darkening it.

"Watch yourself constantly, my daughter. Having reached the crossroads, it is necessary to make a choice. Remember the ascension of a mountain and the difficulty in reaching the peak. This ultimate climbing requires a lot of rigour; all is counted in the least details.

"A stumble can jeopardise everything.

"Such is the law. We insist on this point so that you cannot blame us for being demanding, since we do not demand anything, we only suggest in order to facilitate your ascent.

"It is good to know what altitude one intends to reach. The mountain guide is intransigent and inflexible for the good (and even, as one might say in certain cases, for the survival) of beings who have confidence in him.

"He does not take them by force. They have chosen the objective to be reached and he is there to help them, often against their own wishes, facing difficulties that are bound to arise.

"The struggle is rough, but the victory is so beautiful. Is it not worth some efforts?"

Babuji