Whispers from The Brighter World

Sunday, October 11, 1998 – 10:35 a.m.

Your whole being is under transformation. Your subtle bodies are restructuring. This should positively reflect in your physical body. Be careful and patient. Do not make any abrupt gestures. Keep a watch on yourself. Your condition is good, try to maintain it. Do not worry like that about the future. Be more surrendered. Haven't we always helped you? Keep joy in your heart, you are a privileged person. Rejoice for having such a path. The vicissitudes of life are momentary; you will laugh about them one day. We love you and you have our good will. We find your boy-scout attitude amusing.

The Medium: Will I be able to serve you in a more active way?

Wait a little until your health is restored. Consider how many people you are helping, even unconsciously, you know that. Don't let yourself be dejected by some temporary disappointments. Your heart is in the light; show it. Neither does my son forget you, but you know that too. Be blessed, my child.

The Medium: Beloved Babuji, I would love to be close to you, always.

One day you will be.
Your François is very busy, but he watches over you.
